

Why are there colour differences in some wood items?

One of the best qualities of solid wood furniture is that it is made from natural materials, whether it be oak, maple, pine, birch, ash, or cherry. Like other natural products, nothing is ever exactly the same, therefore for those who can appreciate the beauty of natural wood furniture, can also appreciate the distinct characteristics of the colour differences and grain variations in natural woods. The colour of the stains you choose will also determine the visibility of these variations.
